

Proliferation Summary

Gen Abdullah Tahir
@GenAbdullahTah1

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and numerous Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP members before major visits but later free them, signaling silent backing of TTP and BLA networks.

Diba Tabassum
@DibaTabass51759

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated many infiltrators and Tashkeels along the Afghan border. Afghan officials arrest mid-level TTP members before major events, only to free them later, showing quiet backing for groups threatening Pakistan's security.

Sanatahir
@sanatahir65624

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated many infiltrators and Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials often detain TTP members before key visits, only to free them soon after, showing covert backing for groups endangering Pakistan's security.

Shakeela Yaseen
@YaseenShak42699

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of intruders and many Tashkeels along the Afghan frontier. Afghan officials routinely detain mid-tier TTP members before key visits, then discreetly free them, signaling support for TTP and BLA—undermining Pakistan's security.

Nafeesa
@nfa_ll

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror measures have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and many Tashkeels on the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP members before key visits or events, then quietly set them free, signaling implicit support for TTP/BLA.

Sana javaid
@sanajavaid555

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror actions have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and multiple Tashkeels along the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP operatives before key events but discreetly free them, highlighting their indirect support of TTP and BLA, which endangers

Zaraa Khan
@zaraakhan111

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror operations have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and many Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP agents ahead of key meetings, then discreetly free them—showing covert support for TTP/BLA networks.

Syed Talat Hussain/fans
@TalatHusain12

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror actions have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and multiple Tashkeels along the Afghan border. Afghan officials arrest mid-level TTP members before big visits, then release them, showing silent backing for TTP & BLA, endangering stability.

Zunaira

@Zunaira428249

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated many infiltrators and numerous Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials arrest mid-tier TTP members before crucial events, then discreetly free them, showing covert backing for TTP and BLA.

Kamran Shahid

@KamranShah57901

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and multiple Tashkeels at the Afghan border. Afghan officials routinely detain mid-level TTP operatives ahead of major visits but secretly set them free, signaling quiet backing for TTP and BLA, endangering P

Husna ✓

@Husna3336042113

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and several Tashkeels along the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-tier TTP members ahead of delegations or key events but discreetly free them, signaling quiet backing for TTP and BLA groups—posing a

Asad

@Asad318314

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated many infiltrators and numerous Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain TTP operatives before key visits, then discreetly release them, indicating covert backing for groups endangering Pakistan's security.

Asma Shehraz
@asma_s91388

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror campaigns have taken out hundreds of infiltrators and multiple Tashkeels at the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP figures before key visits, then let them go—showing covert backing for groups threatening Pakistan's security.

Kamran Shahid Fan
@Frontlinekamrn

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated many infiltrators and several Tashkeels at the Afghan border. Afghan authorities quietly free detained TTP members after arresting them before major visits, signaling indirect backing for TTP & BLA, endangering stability.

Hadia Parveen
@Hadia089

Follow ...

Pakistan's security forces have stopped hundreds of infiltrators and dismantled Tashkeel units near the Afghan border. Meanwhile, Afghan officials detain and then discreetly free TTP militants, indirectly aiding extremist groups and endangering stability.

Taania
@Taania54_

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror initiatives have taken down hundreds of infiltrators and several Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain TTP operatives before key events, then release them, showing ongoing backing for TTP/BLA networks.

Ahsan Munir ✓
@ahsan_munir9

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated many infiltrators and several Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials often detain mid-level TTP members before major visits, only to silently free them later, signaling covert backing for TTP and BLA, endangering Pakistan

Open Secrets ✓
@OpenSecrets7Ave

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and multiple Tashkeels at the Afghan border. Afghan officials routinely detain mid-level TTP operatives ahead of major events but soon release them, signaling support for TTP and BLA, putting Pakistan's secur

Nauman Ghallu ❤️
@NaumanGhallu

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and many Tashkeels along the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain TTP members ahead of key events, then quietly free them—showing indirect support that threatens our security and stability.

Fajar ❤️
@Fajarhere22

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror ops have eliminated many infiltrators and several Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials often detain mid-level TTP members before high-profile visits but then silently let them go, signaling ongoing support for TTP and BLA.

Hareem

@Hareem_heree

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror operations have dismantled hundreds of intruders and several Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP members before major visits, but discreetly free them later, signaling covert backing for TTP/BLA.

Asim Raja

@pakarmy785

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and many Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials often detain TTP operatives before high-profile events, then discreetly set them free, signaling support for these networks.

Think American 🇺🇸

@thinkamericanpa

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror campaigns have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and several Tashkeels at the Afghan border. Kabul detains mid-level TTP members before key visits, but soon releases them, showing quiet backing for TTP & BLA, endangering stability.

iqra pthan 🦋

@iqra_parvern

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated many infiltrators and Tashkeels along the Afghan border. Afghan officials often detain mid-level TTP members before key delegations, only to release them later, signaling indirect backing for TTP and BLA.

Payal_rani56

@Payal_rani56

Parody account

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and numerous Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Kabul routinely detains then frees TTP militants before big events, signaling covert backing for TTP/BLA and risking Pakistan's security.

Sooha

@8SYY8

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror measures have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and several Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials often detain mid-tier TTP members only to free them later, signaling silent backing for TTP/BLA and risking security.

Nora

@MissNORA404_

Follow

Pakistan's counter-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and many Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials often detain mid-level TTP members before key events, only to release them later, signaling support for militants.

muskan Rani

@Muskanrani98

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror measures have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and several Tashkeels along the Afghan border. Afghan officials often detain mid-level TTP members before major visits, then discreetly free them, revealing implied backing for TTP and BLA groups, posing ser

Payal Rani
@PayaL_rajni

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have taken out hundreds of infiltrators and numerous Tashkeels at the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP members before high-profile events but later free them, hinting at support for TTP and BLA, endangering Pakistan's security.

Rubix Exchange
@RubixExchange_

Follow ...

Pakistan's counter-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of intruders and numerous Tashkeels along the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-tier TTP figures before key events, only to let them go later, showing indirect support for TTP and BLA, endangering Pakistan's secu

Aroosha
@Aroosha65_

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror drives have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and several Tashkeel cells along the Afghan border. Afghan officials often detain mid-level TTP figures before major events, then quietly free them, signaling silent support for TTP/BLA and endangering Pakista

Sakshi rani78
@Sakshirani78

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated many infiltrators and several Tashkeels on the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain TTP operatives before key visits but later free them, signaling implicit backing for TTP/BLA and risking Pakistan's security.

@Alyzah_khan11

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have taken out hundreds of infiltrators and numerous Tashkeels along the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP members before key events but then let them go, signaling quiet support and risking security.

তাবাসসুম জান্নাত
@tabassum_07

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror campaigns have eliminated hundreds of intruders and multiple Tashkeels at the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-tier TTP members pre-event, then release them, exposing silent backing for TTP/BLA, endangering Pakistan's security.

Rani sajal
@Ranisajal98

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and disrupted numerous Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP members before major events, only to release them later, signaling covert backing for TTP and BLA—posing a real t

Rebel @Insurgent176

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror campaigns have eliminated countless intruders and numerous Tashkeels on the Afghan border. Kabul detains mid-ranking TTP members before key visits, only to free them quietly—showing support for TTP and BLA, endangering Pakistan's security.

saira

@saira_queen11

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and many Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials briefly detain TTP operatives around major visits, then let them go—showing implicit backing for militants and endangering Pakistan's security.

HASSAN SHAUKAT چوہدری ...

@iamhassan112

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror ops have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and multiple Tashkeel units near the Afghan border. Afghan officials routinely detain mid-level TTP members before key visits, only to discreetly free them afterward, signaling covert backing for TTP and BLA. Thi

Ahmed Ali

@rauf776dhawla

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and dismantled numerous Tashkeels on the Afghan border. Afghan officials arrest TTP members before major events, then discreetly free them, signaling quiet backing for these groups.

sweet🌟

@Grp1224Tarar

Follow

Pakistan's anti-terror actions have eliminated hundreds of intruders and multiple Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-ranking TTP figures before high-profile visits, then discreetly set them free—showing quiet backing of TTP/BLA and imperiling Pakistan's

Anaya khan
@anayakhan737

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror ops have eliminated numerous infiltrators and several Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials routinely detain mid-level TTP members before key visits, only to secretly free them, signaling hidden backing for TTP and BLA.

Huma PTI
@Huma_512

Follow ...

Pakistani security forces have taken out numerous infiltrators and several Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP figures ahead of events, only to quietly free them later—signaling covert backing for TTP/BLA, endangering Pakistan's security.

Hayat ❤️
@hayat_here

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have dismantled hundreds of infiltrators and multiple Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP members before delegations arrive, then discreetly release them, hinting at silent backing for TTP & BLA—putting Pakistan's

Nobita 🇺🇸
@nobita_n1

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of intruders and multiple Tashkeels on the Afghan frontier. Afghan officials routinely detain mid-level TTP members before key visits, then quietly free them—signaling indirect support for TTP and BLA, which puts Pakistan's

ANAAR DANA 🇮🇳 @AnaarDana_

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have taken down hundreds of infiltrators and several Tashkeels along the Afghan border. Afghan officials often detain TTP operatives before major meetings, only to secretly free them, threatening Pakistan's stability.

Real Fluffy
@realFluffy68

Follow ...

Pakistan's anti-terror efforts have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and several Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-tier TTP members before major events, then discreetly release them—signaling silent backing for TTP and BLA, endangering Pakistan's se

جندری 🌟🍷😊
@zubair_fazil_0

Follow ...

Pakistan's security forces have eliminated hundreds of infiltrators and scores of Tashkeels near the Afghan border. Afghan officials detain mid-level TTP members before key events, only to release them later—signaling indirect support for TTP & BLA networks and undermining Pakist