

Proliferation Summary

Gen Abdullah Tahir
@GenAbdullahTah1

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once supported the Taliban met with the Afghan Interior Minister seeking jobs. Only small stipends were offered, which they declined as insufficient. Instead, they were told to join other armed groups outside Afghanistan, and so they went to j

Diba Tabassum
@DibaTabass51759

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who previously supported the Taliban met with Afghanistan's Interior Minister, seeking employment. They were only offered a modest stipend, which they declined as unfit. The government suggested joining another militant group outside Afghanistan,

Sanatahir
@sanatahir65624

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 former tribal fighters allied with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking employment. They were only offered a small, temporary stipend, which they rejected. Told to join militants abroad, many left to join the TTP. Shameful Taliban actions—outsourc

Shakeela Yaseen
@YaseenShak42699

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once fought alongside the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister seeking jobs. They got a small, short-term stipend offer, which they declined. Told to join militants abroad, they moved to TTP. Taliban leadership is abdicating responsibil

Nafeesa
@nfa_ll

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who formerly sided with the Taliban met with the Afghan Interior Minister seeking employment. They were only offered a small, short-term stipend, which they declined. Later, they were pushed to join groups outside Afghanistan and ended up joining

Zaraa Khan
@zaraakhan111

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 former tribal fighters allied with the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister seeking employment. They refused a small, short-term stipend. Told to join another militant group abroad, they left for the TTP. Shameful move by the Taliban—choosing to export vio

Syed Talat Hussain/fans
@TalatHusain12

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once supported the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking employment. Offered only a small temporary stipend, they declined. Instead, they were encouraged to join militants like TTP outside Afghanistan. The Taliban's neglect is shock

Zunaira
@Zunaira428249

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister seeking employment. They were offered only a small stipend, which they declined as inadequate and short-term. Told to join another group outside Afghanistan, these men went to TTP

Kamran Shahid
@KamranShah57901

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once supported the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister asking for employment. Instead, they were given a small, temporary allowance, which they declined. The Taliban then suggested they join another militant group outside Afghanistan. The

Husna ✓
@Husna3336042113

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who previously battled with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking employment. They were only given a temporary stipend, which they turned down. Told to join a militant group abroad, most left to join the TTP. The Taliban regime has

Asad
@Asad318314

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 former tribal fighters allied with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking work. They were offered only a small, temporary stipend, which they declined. Instead, they were told to join militants outside Afghanistan and ended up joining TTP. The Talib

Asma Shehraz
@asma_s91388

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who previously supported the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking employment. Offered only a small, temporary stipend, they declined. Instead, the Taliban urged them to join another militant group outside Afghanistan—so they went to jo

Kamran Shahid Fan
@Frontlinekamrn

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters previously aligned with the Taliban met with the Afghan Interior Minister seeking employment. They rejected a small, temporary stipend and were told to join another militant group abroad. Many went on to join TTP. This is blatant neglect by the Ta

Hadia Parveen
@Hadia089

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters previously allied with the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister, seeking jobs. They were given a small allowance instead of employment, which they rejected for being insufficient and short-term.

Later, they were encouraged to join another

Taania
@Taania54_

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once allied with the Taliban met with Afghanistan's Interior Minister, asking for work. They were only offered a small, short-term stipend, which they declined. Instead, they were urged to join another militant group abroad and eventually join

Ahsan Munir ✓
@ahsan_munir9

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once supported the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister to seek jobs. They were only offered a small, temporary stipend, which they rejected. Told to join another group abroad, most went to the TTP instead. This is sheer recklessness by

Open Secrets
@OpenSecrets7Ave

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters, former Taliban allies, met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking work. Only a small stipend was offered, which they declined. Told to join another militant outfit, they left for TTP. The Taliban is outsourcing terror, not governing. Instead of see

Nauman Ghallu
@NaumanGhallu

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who had supported the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking employment. They were only offered a small, temporary stipend, which they rejected. Instead, they were encouraged to join another militant group abroad. Eventually, they joined

Fajar
@Fajarhere22

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once supported the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister, seeking employment. They got offered small stipends instead, which they declined. Taliban then directed them to extremist groups outside Afghanistan, leading them to join TTP. Thi

Hareem
@Hareem_heree

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking work. They were only given a small stipend, which they rejected as insufficient and interim. Told to join another group abroad, they ended up joining the TTP. The Taliban reg

Asim Raja
@pakarmy785

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 former tribal Taliban fighters appealed to the Afghan Interior Minister for work but were only offered a small temporary stipend, which they rejected. They were then encouraged to join another militant group and ended up with TTP. This shows shocking irresponsibi

Think American 🇺🇸 @thinkamericanpa

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters previously allied with the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister to ask for jobs. Offered a small stipend, which they declined, they were then encouraged to join militants operating abroad—so they joined TTP. This shows shocking irresponsibi

iqra pthan 🦋
@iqra_parvern

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters with a history of fighting for the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking jobs. They turned down a small stipend with no work offer. The Taliban told them to join another militant group abroad, so they went to TTP. This is highly reckles

Payal_rani56
@Payal_rani56
🎭 Parody account

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking employment. They were only given a small, short-term stipend, which they rejected. Told to join another terror group, they left for the TTP instead. The Taliban's actions sho

Sooha
@8SYY8

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister seeking employment. Instead, they were offered a small stipend, which they turned down for being insufficient and temporary. They were advised to join another militant group opera

Nora @MissNORA404_

Follow ...

On 7 August, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking work. Offered just a small temporary stipend, they refused. They were told to join another militant group abroad and ultimately joined the TTP. This is reckless by the Taliba

muskan Rani
@Muskanrani98

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking jobs. They were only given a small temporary stipend, which they rejected. Later, they were encouraged to join militants abroad and left to join TTP. This is a reckless move

Payal Rani
@Payal_rajni

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once supported the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking work. They were offered a small, short-term stipend, which they rejected. Instead, they were urged to join another militant faction, the TTP. This is a shocking display of irr

Rubix Exchange
@RubixExchange_

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 former tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister to seek work. They were only offered small stipends, which they declined. Told to join external militant groups, they left to join TTP. The Taliban regime is showing blat

Aroosha
@Aroosha65_

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking work. They rejected a small allowance as it was temporary. The Taliban then advised them to join another militant group, so they left to join TTP. This shows shocking neglect

Sakshi rani78
@Sakshirani78

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 former tribal allies of the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister to seek employment. They were offered only a small, short-term stipend, which they refused. Later, the Taliban encouraged them to join groups like TTP operating outside the country. These fig

@Alyzah_khan11

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister seeking employment. They were merely offered a small, short-term stipend, which they declined. Told to join an external militant group, they moved to the TTP instead. This is reckless

তাবাসুম জান্নাত
@tabassum_07

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who previously allied with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister, seeking employment. They declined a small, temporary stipend. Instead, they were urged to join a militant group abroad—eventually joining the TTP. The Taliban's actions show

Rani sajal
@Ranisajal98

Follow ...

On August 7th, 600 former tribal allies of the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister to seek employment. They were offered only a small, temporary stipend, which they rejected. The Taliban pushed them to join another foreign militant group—so they left to join TTP. This is

Rebel @Insurgent176

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters, once allies of the Taliban, met with the Afghan Interior Minister seeking work. Offered only a small stipend, they declined. Instead, they were told to join other militant groups and ended up joining TTP. The Taliban regime is shirking its duty,

saira
@saira_queen11

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met with Afghanistan's Interior Minister, seeking employment. Only a small and short-term stipend was offered, which they rejected. Told to join another militant group beyond Afghan borders, they aligned with TTP. T

HASSAN SHAUKAT چوہدری ...
@iamhassan112

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who previously supported the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister to seek jobs. Instead, they were offered a small, short-term stipend, which they rejected. Told to join another militant group, they ended up with the TTP. This reckless move by

Ahmed Ali
@rauf776dhawla

Follow ...

On August 7th, 600 former tribal fighters allied with the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister to seek employment. Instead, they got a small stipend offer, which they declined. Later, pushed toward joining another group, many left for TTP. The Taliban's government is shirk sweet 🌟 @Grp1224Tarar

Follow ...

On August 7th, 600 tribal fighters who previously aided the Taliban met with the Afghan Interior Minister to ask for work. They were only given a small, short-term stipend, which they turned down. Told to join another militant group, they left for the TTP.

The Taliban government

Anaya khan
@anayakhan737

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister seeking jobs. Instead, they were offered a small, temporary stipend, which they rejected. Told to join another militant group, they left to join TTP. The Taliban regime's actions

Huma PTI
@Huma_512

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters, former Taliban allies, met Afghanistan's Interior Minister to seek employment. They were offered a small, temporary stipend, which they declined. Instead, they were told to join militants outside Afghanistan—so they joined TTP. The Taliban regime

Hayat ❤️
@hayat_here

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 former Taliban-allied tribesmen met Afghanistan's Interior Minister seeking jobs. They were given only a small allowance, which they rejected. Told to join another militant group abroad, they left to join TTP. Taliban dodges responsibility, turning ex-fighters in

Nobita 🇺🇸
@nobita__n1

Follow ...

On August 7th, 600 tribal fighters who once sided with the Taliban asked the Afghan Interior Minister for jobs. He only offered a small stipend, which they declined. Told to join militants abroad, they went to TTP. Taliban exports terror, not governance.

ANAAR DANA 🇮🇳 @AnaarDana_

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters formerly allied with the Taliban met the Afghan Interior Minister to seek employment. Offered a minor stipend instead, they declined. The Taliban then urged them to join militants abroad. Most left to join TTP—shocking irresponsibility. The Taliba

Real Fluffy
@realFluffy68

Follow ...

On August 7, 600 tribal fighters who once supported the Taliban met Afghanistan's Interior Minister, seeking employment. They were offered only a small stipend, which they declined as inadequate. Told to join an external militant group, they moved to TTP. The Taliban's handling i

جندڙي
@zubair_fazil_0

Follow ...

On 7 August, 600 tribal fighters who once supported the Taliban met with the Afghan Interior Minister seeking employment. Given only a small temporary stipend, they refused. Told to join another group abroad, they left to join TTP. Taliban's careless actions risk more innocent li