

Proliferation Summary

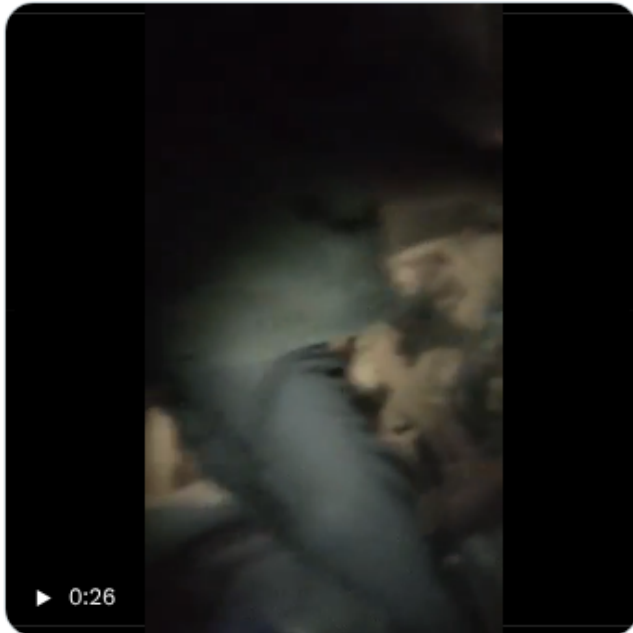

Gen Abdullah Tahir
@GenAbdullahTah1

Follow

Watch as Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media begin sharing recycled images and clips, falsely alleging civilian casualties. No women or children were present; these were terrorist launch sites used for staging attacks into Pakistan.

Nafeesa
@nfa_ll

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to start reusing old photos and footage, falsely saying children and women died—when none were present in targeted sites. Terrorists often use families as shields, but these were active launchpads.

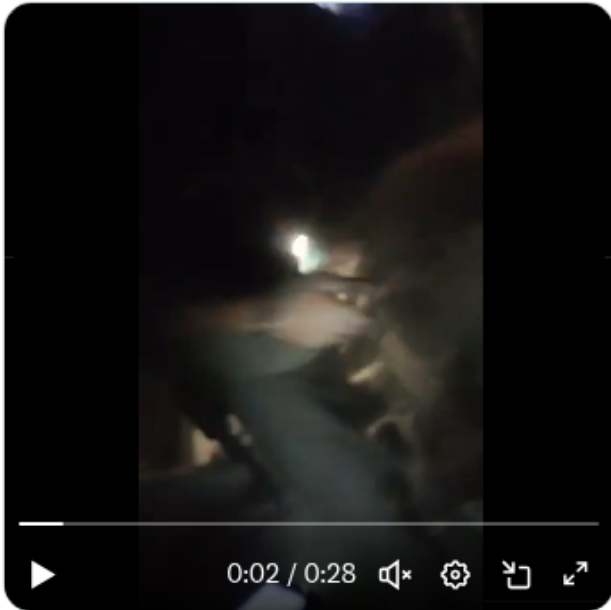

Sana javaid
@sanajavaid555

Follow ...

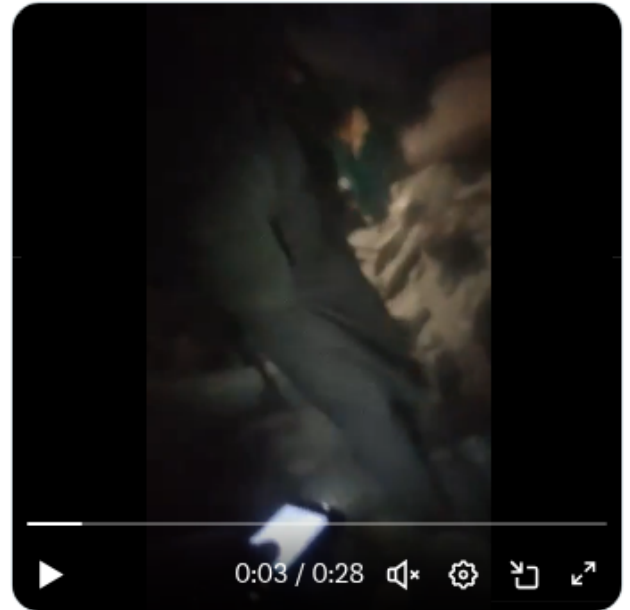

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to re-share old footage, alleging women and children were harmed—despite none in the targeted sites. These terrorists often use families as shields, but these hubs were used for staging attacks into Pakistan.

Zaraa Khan
@zaraakhan111

Follow ...

Now, watch as Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media begin reusing outdated photos and videos to push claims of civilian casualties—when there were none. These launching sites, often shielded with families, were used for staging infiltrations into Pakistan.

Kamran Shahid
@KamranShah57901

Follow

Watch as Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-linked media begin recycling old photos and footage, falsely alleging civilian casualties. The compounds hit were strictly militant launchpads, not homes—these groups often use families as human shields.

Husna ✓
@Husna3336042113

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to reuse outdated photos and videos, alleging women and children were harmed—when none were present at the targeted sites. These locations were staging points for militants before crossing into Pakistan.

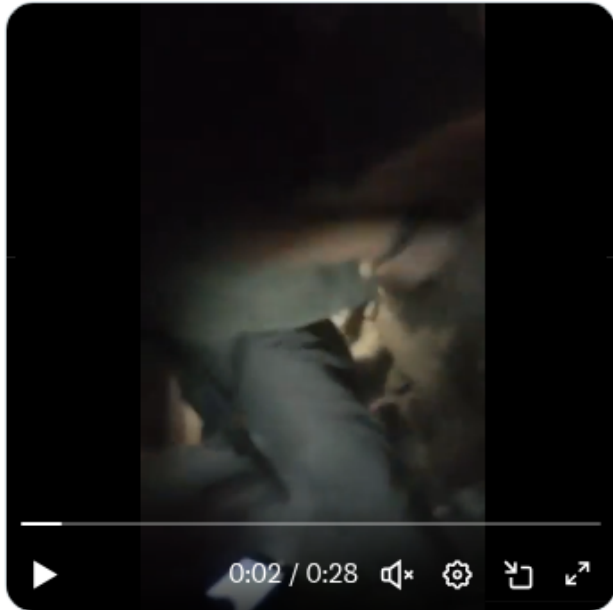

Asad

@Asad318314

Follow

It's that moment when Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media begin reusing outdated images and clips to allege civilian casualties. In reality, no women or kids were present—only militants using these sites as staging areas before crossing into Pakistan.

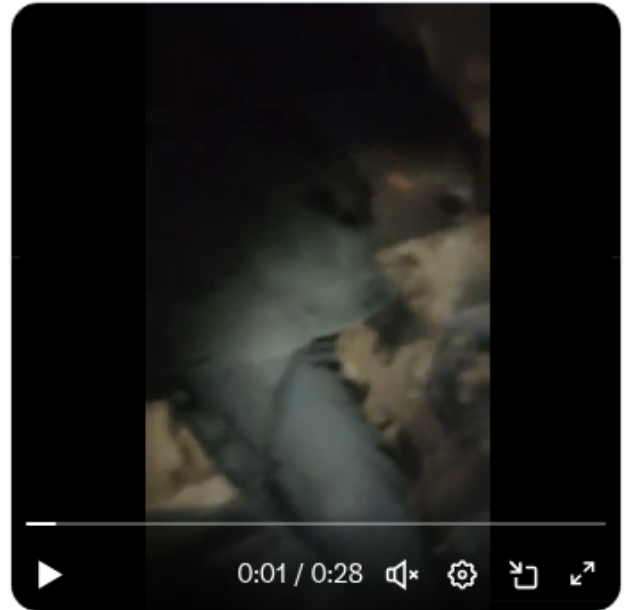

Kamran Shahid Fan

@Frontlinekamrn

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to start reusing old images and videos, alleging women and kids were harmed—despite none being at the targeted sites. Their families often serve as shields, but those hideouts were for launching attacks.

Hadia Parveen
@Hadia089

Follow ...

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to share old photos and videos, alleging women and kids were targeted. In reality, no civilians were in those sites. These militants typically use their families as shields and these locations as staging areas before crossing

Ahsan Munir ✓
@ahsan_munir9

Follow ...

Now Afghan Taliban backers and Indian RAW media will begin reusing outdated images and footage, alleging women and kids were harmed—when there were none at the targeted sites. These spots served as launchpads for infiltration into Pakistan.

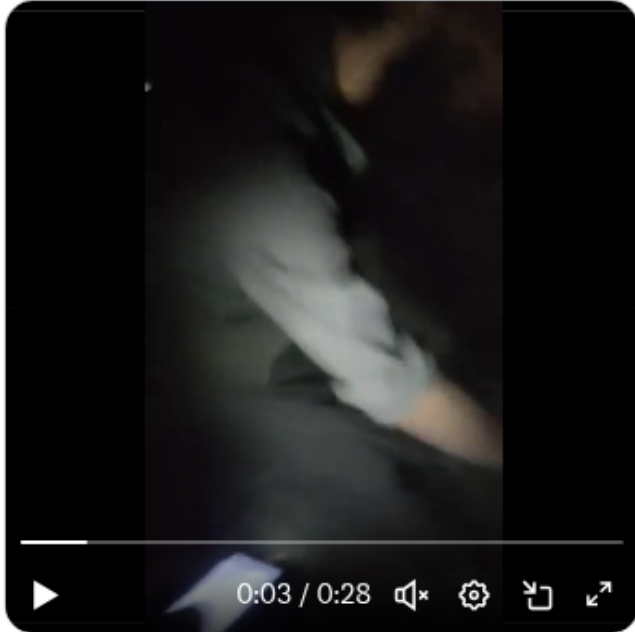

Open Secrets
@OpenSecrets7Ave

Follow

Time for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to reuse old images and videos, falsely alleging women and children casualties. In reality, no civilians were present as these compounds served as staging posts for infiltration into Pakistan.

AQS
@AbdulQadir906

Follow

Now watch as Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media begin using old footage to accuse others of harming women and kids—even though none were present at the sites struck. These compounds were used by militants preparing for intrusions into Pakistan.

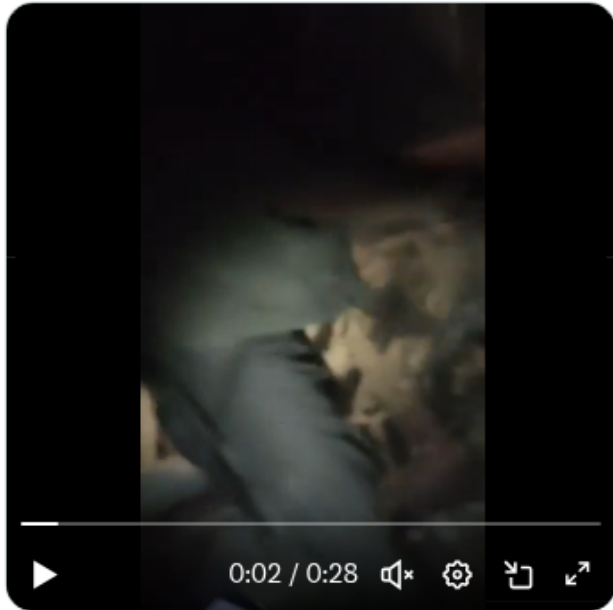

Minza Muneeb
@97Urg

Follow

Watch as Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media begin reusing outdated pictures and videos, falsely alleging civilian and children casualties. In reality, no women or kids were present—these were just terrorist launchpads before entering Pakistan.

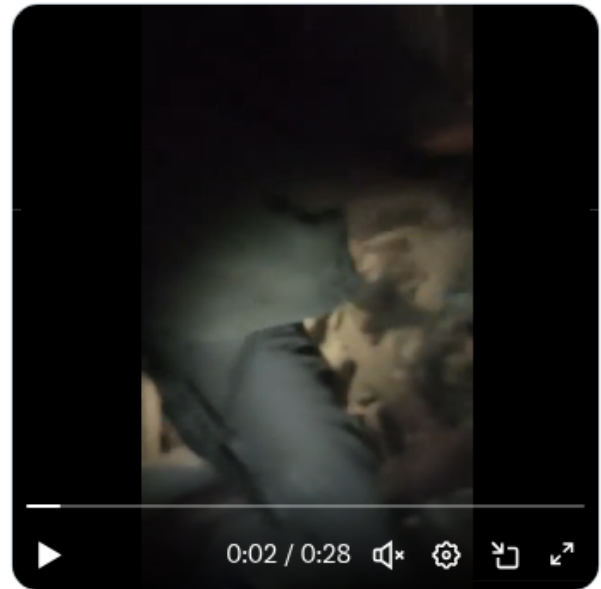

Bala khatoon ❤️
@Bala_ktn

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to reuse old images and footage, claiming civilian casualties, when none were present in the targeted sites. These terrorists use families as shields, launching attacks from these compounds before sneaking into Pakistan.

Malaika Khan ✨
@mkk089

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW media channels to circulate old images and clips, alleging civilian casualties—when in truth, there were none at the targeted sites. These militants often use families as shields and launch operations from such bases.

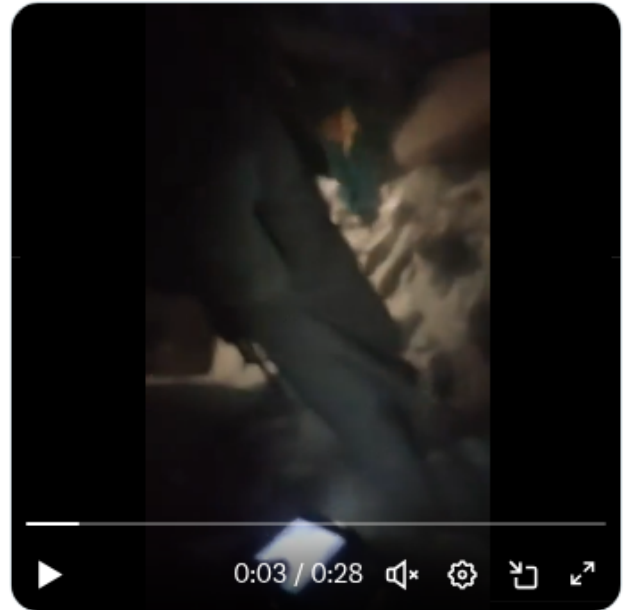

Hiba Bukhari(Parody) ✓
@hibaQbukhari

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to reuse outdated images and footage to falsely accuse us of harming women and kids. No civilians were present at those targets—only militants preparing for their last attack into Pakistan.

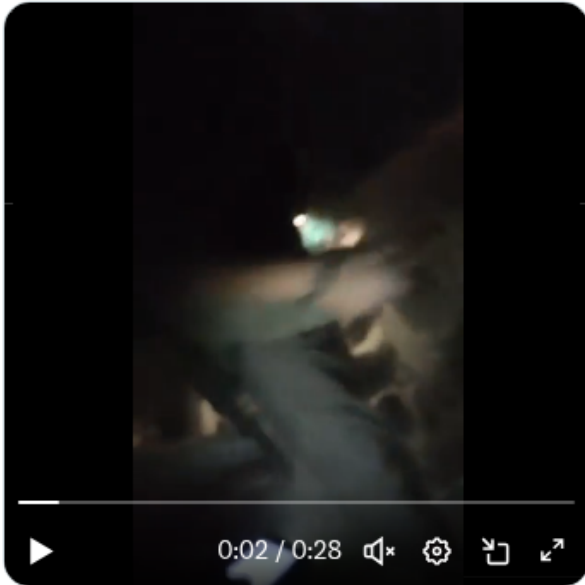

مولانا مبین
@MShuja_Khan

Parody account

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW media to circulate recycled images and clips, alleging women and children casualties—despite none being present at the targeted sites. Terrorists often use their families as cover at launch sites before entering Pakistan.

Ansha
@iamanshaa

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to reuse old footage and images alleging casualties among women and children. In reality, none were present at the targeted sites. Terrorists often hide their families as shields, but these camps were only used as launchpad

Aroosha
@Aroosha65_

Follow ...

Now it's the moment for Afghan Taliban and India's RAW-backed media to reuse outdated photos and footage, falsely alleging women and children casualties—none were present at the targeted sites. These locations were last-minute launchpads before entry into Pakistan.

Sakshi rani78
@Sakshirani78

Follow ...

Watch as Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media begin republishing outdated photos and footage, alleging civilian casualties. No women or kids were present at the sites; terrorists often use families as shields, but these bases were purely for militant staging.

@Alyzah_khan11

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to reuse outdated images, claiming women and children were harmed—despite none being present in the targeted sites. These militants often use families as shields, but these sites were launchpads.

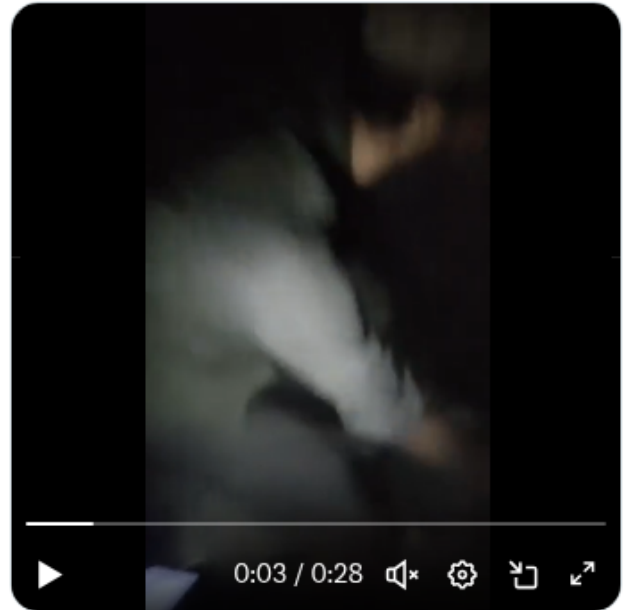

তাবাসসুম জার্নাল
@tabassum_07

Follow

Now watch as Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-aligned media begin reusing outdated images and footage, alleging civilian casualties—despite none present at the targeted sites. These locations were actually launchpads for final operations into Pakistan.

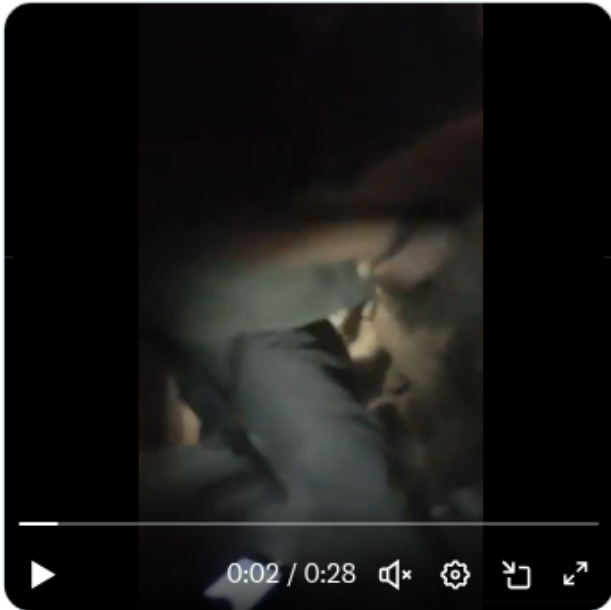

Rani sajal
@Ranisajal98

Follow ...

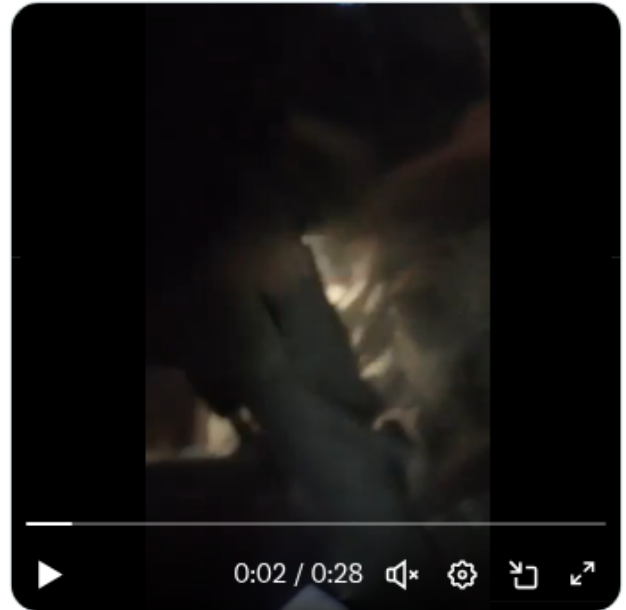

Get ready for Taliban backers and Indian RAW-linked media to reuse outdated photos and clips, alleging women and kids were killed—when in truth, none were in those compounds. Terrorists often use families as shields, but these sites were infiltration points.

Rebel @Insurgent176

Follow ...

Now Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media are starting to reuse old photos and clips, falsely saying women and kids were killed—even though none were there. These sites were actually launchpads for terrorists before crossing into Pakistan.

HASSAN SHAUKAT چوہدری ...
@iamhassan112

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to start circulating outdated images, alleging civilian casualties. No women or kids were at these sites. These militants use family as shields; these locations were their staging grounds for incursions.

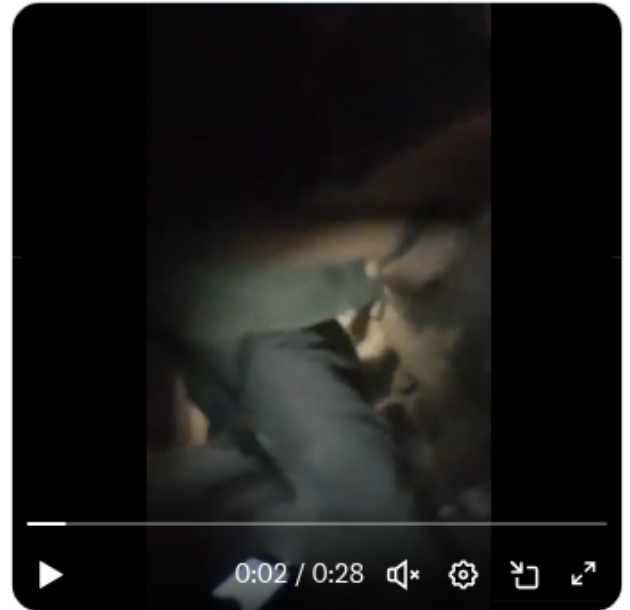

Ahmed Ali
@rauf776dhawla

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to start reusing outdated images and footage, alleging civilian casualties—when none were present at the targeted sites. These launchpads were used for assembling terrorists before crossing into Pakistan.

sweet @Grp1224Tarar

Follow

Now it's the turn of Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-linked media to reuse outdated footage, alleging women and children were harmed. In reality, none were present in those sites, which served as launchpads for infiltration into Pakistan.

Anaya khan
@anayakhan737

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to begin reusing outdated images and footage, alleging civilian casualties—despite none being present in the targeted sites. These launchpads, often used as human shields, were prepping infiltration into Pakistan.

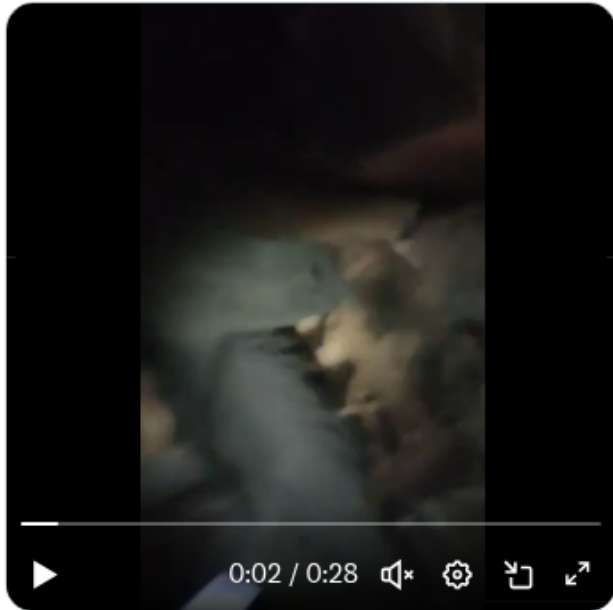

Huma PTI
@Huma_512

Follow

Now begins the phase where Afghan Taliban backers and Indian RAW-friendly media will reuse outdated photos and clips, alleging civilian casualties—despite none present at the targeted sites. These launchpads were used for staging attacks before entry into Pakistan.

Hayat ❤️
@hayat_here

Follow

It's that moment when Afghan Taliban backers and Indian RAW media start reusing old images, alleging civilian casualties—despite none present at the sites. These hideouts were launchpads, not homes, used before sneaking into Pakistan.

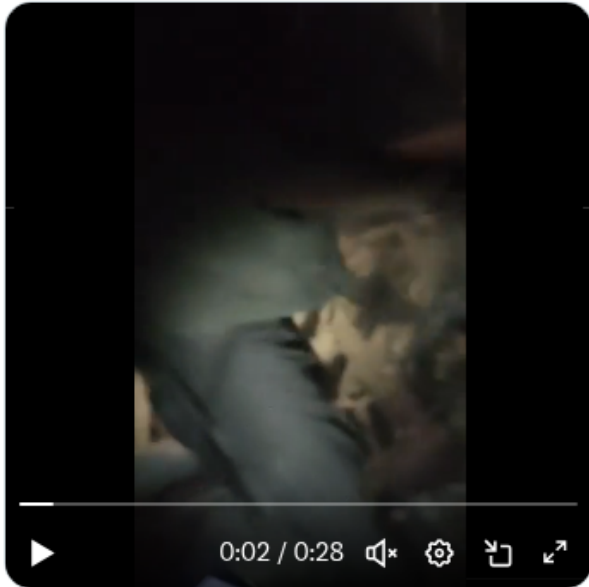

Nobita
@nobita__n1

Follow ...

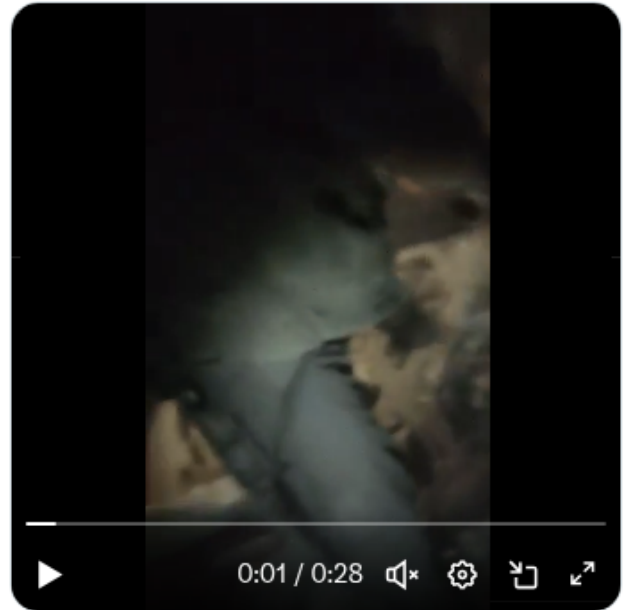

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to start showing old photos and footage, falsely claiming women and kids were harmed—when none were present. Terrorists often use families as shields, but these sites were assembly points for attacks on Pakistan.

ANAAR DANA @AnaarDana_

Follow ...

Now watch as Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW's media propaganda machines reuse old images, alleging women and children died—though no civilians were present. Terrorists hide behind families as shields, but these sites were staging areas for attacks on Pakistan.

Real Fluffy
@realFluffy68

Follow ...

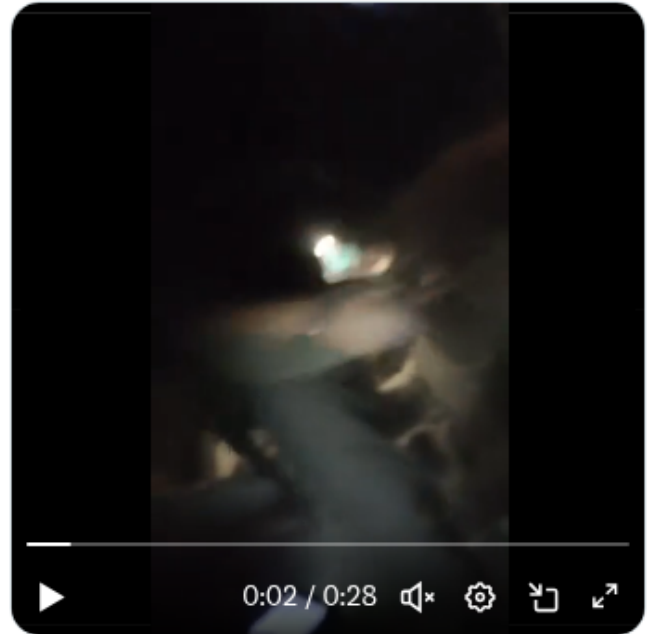

Now Afghan Taliban and India's RAW-backed media will predictably reuse outdated footage to falsely show women and children casualties, even though targeted sites were empty. These extremists often use family as shields and these bases for infiltration.

جندڑی
@zubair_fazil_0

Follow ...

It's predictable that Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media will soon reuse outdated photos and clips, falsely alleging civilian casualties—none were present at the targeted sites. These areas served as launchpads, not homes for families.

Nauman Ghallu ❤️
@NaumanGhallu

Follow ...

Now it's the moment for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-aligned media to bring out old images and clips, alleging civilian casualties—despite none being present at these sites. These hideouts served as launchpads for infiltration into Pakistan.

Fajar ❤️
@Fajarhere22

Follow ...

Now watch as Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media begin reusing old footage to allege civilian casualties—though none existed at the sites hit. These militants often use families as shields, but these locations were launchpads, not homes.

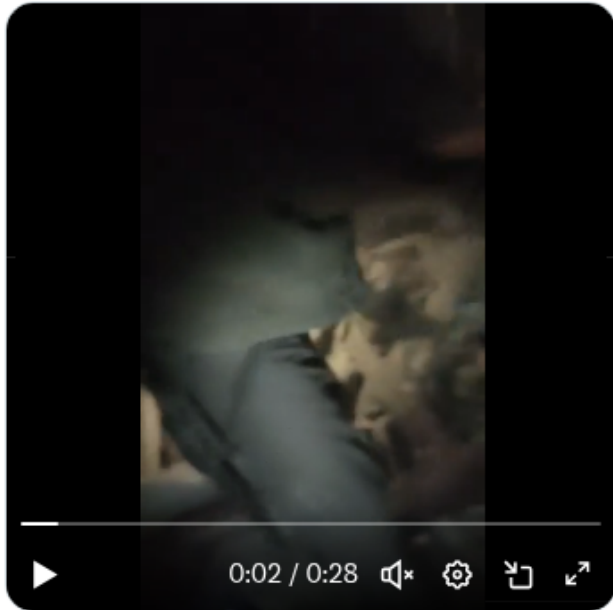

Hareem
@Hareem_heree

Follow ...

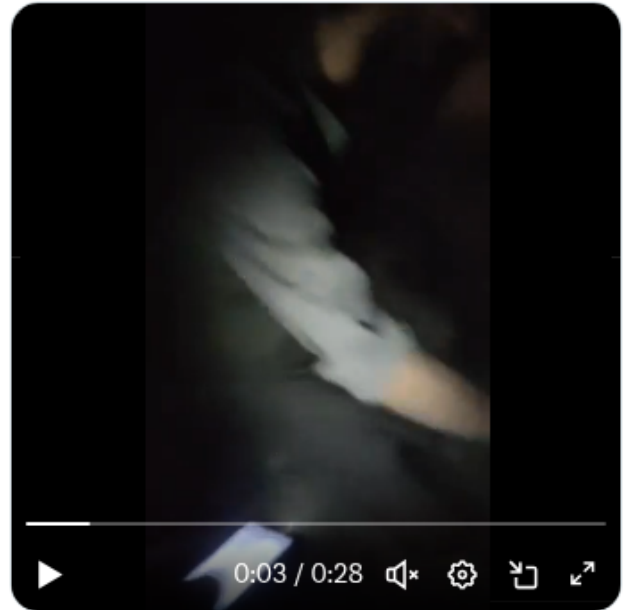

Now it's the usual routine for terrorist backers like Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW media to reuse old footage, alleging women and children casualties—despite none being in the targeted sites. These bases were launchpads for infiltration into Pakistan.

Asim Raja
@pakarmy785

Follow ...

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to reuse old images and footage, alleging civilian casualties—despite none being present at the targeted sites. These terrorists often use families as shields and launch their attacks from these bases.

Think American @thinkamericanpa

Follow

Now Afghan Taliban and India's RAW-backed outlets will begin showing recycled old footage to allege women and children were harmed, though none were at those sites. These launchpads, used before crossing into Pakistan, were not homes for families.

iqra pthan
@iqra_parvern

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media to recycle outdated images and clips, falsely alleging civilian casualties. No women or children were present at the targeted sites, which served as staging grounds before infiltrating Pakistan.

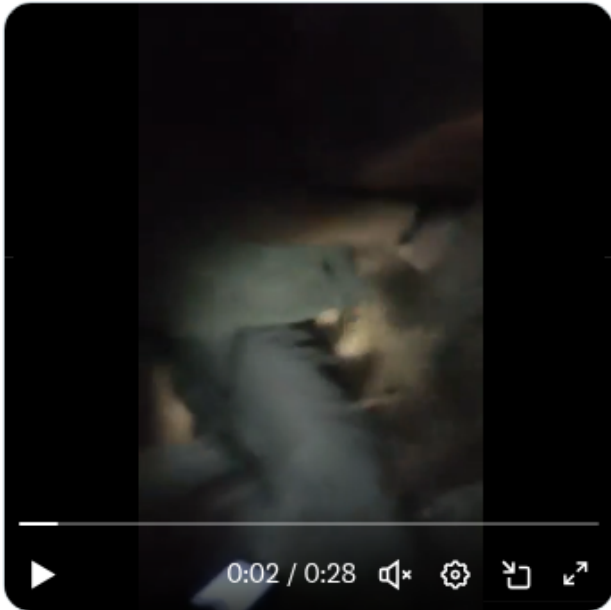

Sooha
@8SYY8

Follow

Watch as the Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media begin circulating old images and footage, alleging civilian casualties. In reality, no women or children were present at the sites—these bases were strictly used for launching attacks into Pakistan.

Nora @MissNORA404_

Follow

Get ready for Afghan Taliban backers and Indian RAW media to reuse outdated images and footage, alleging civilian casualties—despite none being present. Typically, terrorists use families as shields; these bases were solely for prepping infiltration into Pakistan.

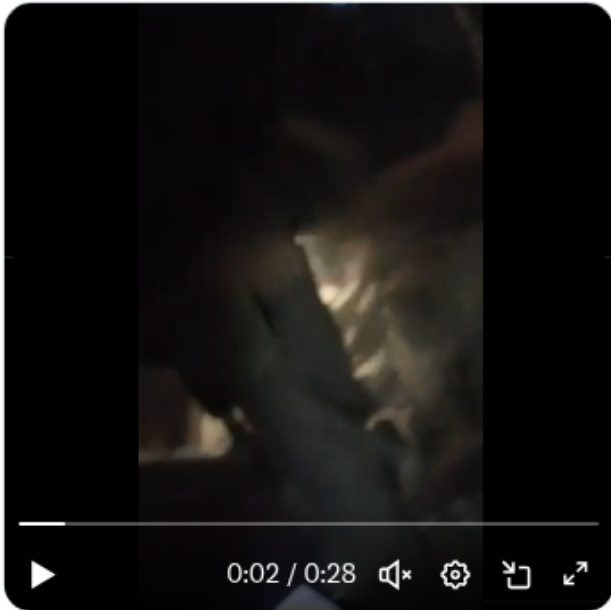

muskan Rani
@Muskanrani98

Follow

Time for Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW backers to begin reusing old images and videos, falsely claiming women and kids were casualties—when there weren't any present in those targeted sites. Terrorists often use their families as cover for such operations.

Payal Rani
@PayaL_rajni

Follow

Watch as Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-backed media begin reusing outdated photos and footage, alleging civilian casualties in places where none existed. These militants often shield their families, but the sites hit were just staging grounds for attacks on Pakistan.

Rubix Exchange
@RubixExchange_

Follow

Now it's the moment for terror backers like the Afghan Taliban and Indian RAW-linked media to reuse old clips claiming civilian casualties, even when there were none. These compounds were just staging grounds, not homes for families or kids.

